

ABYSSINIAN NOBLE TO SEE ROOSEVELT

Brings a Personal Letter
From King Menelik.

HAS TWO STUFFED TIGERS

They May Be Presents Intended for the President, From the Mahommedan Ruler.

His highness El-Hagg Abdullahi Aly Sadik Pasha, special envoy of King Menelik, is due in this city in a few days. El-Hagg Pasha comes by direction of his Abyssinian master armed with credentials and letters to President Roosevelt.

The distinguished visitor has hopes of establishing trade relations with this country. He is of the opinion that the American people have neglected a fine opportunity by heretofore not seeking the markets of Menelik's domain as an outlet for surplus products.

In his own country El-Hagg Abdullahi is a great potentate. He is governor of the province of Harrar, the chief military province of Menelik's kingdom, and the military prince, under the Christian King, of all the Mohammedans in the country.

Fond of Cocktails.
His highness is said to have evinced a fondness for the insidious American cocktail, and when not sipping them smokes Turkish cigarettes. He speaks no English, but has in his party an American interpreter, Alexander Tarpinian, who is with his royal employer constantly. He will be accompanied to this city by W. H. Ellis, who is remembered to have been the companion of Kent Loomis, brother of ex-Assistant Secretary of State F. B. Loomis, the American who mysteriously disappeared from an ocean steamer off the English coast last year while the two were on their way to Abyssinia to arrange a trade treaty with Menelik.

El-Hagg Abdullahi maintains a strange silence as to his family. Like his Christian master, he admits of having one wife, but he is thought to have more than one, as Moslems of his high rank, as a rule, support large harems. When asked about his family relations recently, he replied:

"Fear 'Evil Eye.'
The disciples of Allah never talk about their women and children or they get the evil eye and die."

Although his first official business in this country is with President Roosevelt, El-Hagg Abdullahi intends to inspect the principal cotton mills here, as all the cotton in Abyssinia is exported from this country—mostly, however, by English jobbers. King Menelik, he says, does not intend to have any diplomatic agents in Washington or any other place, although France, Germany and Russia have consular representatives at his capital, Addis Abeba. His trip to this country, therefore, is purely for purposes of observation, with the general idea of studying business conditions, looking to the development of trade between this country and Abyssinia.

Upon his arrival in Washington, El-Hagg Abdullahi will present a personal letter to President Roosevelt from King Menelik. He also brings a large number of presents, most of them thought to be for President Roosevelt. The presents comprise pieces of carved ivory and two stuffed tigers.

ROOSEVELT'S CHARM STONEWALL'S WIFE

Latter's Heart Touched by President.

FIRST LADY MOST WOMANLY

Aristocratic Southern Household, Including Cook, Delighted With Visitors From White House.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 26.—In an interview given at her home here, Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, widow of the great Confederate general, pays the following tribute to the President and Mrs. Roosevelt:

"I had been honored in being placed at the head of a delegation of ladies to receive Mrs. Roosevelt, and when I was presented to his excellency I was both surprised and overwhelmed at the warmth and exuberance of his greeting. He expressed so much admiration for my husband, and so much joy at meeting his wife—holding my hand so tenderly and yet reverently—that my heart was deeply touched.

Touched Her Heart.
"When he spoke of his pleasure in appointing my husband to a cadetship at West Point, and complimented him as 'a splendid young fellow,' he struck the tenderest chords of a very grateful heart.

"Yes, I am sure the President is all right—a large-hearted, good and great man. His noble tributes to Generals Lee and Jackson proved that he is for true metal.

"The President's wife made as favorable an impression upon the ladies as any First Lady of the Land could, being cultured and gracious, womanly and responsive to all the eager attention showered upon her. It was lovely to see how the ladies and children crowded around her, and how kindly and sweetly she received them.

Cook Overjoyed.
"My faithful old cook was perhaps the most elated person in the parlor of my simple little home as she handed the First Lady of the Land a glass of water, and she told me afterward that 'we was the bon-tonest folks in town, as nobody else had the President's wife in their house.'

"May his excellency live long to be a blessing and a powerful great good to this grand country of ours."

For many years he was in business at Connecticut avenue and Grant road, the place that his father conducted before him.

TUG SPRAY RAISED.
The tugboat Spray, which sank in the dock between Cameron and Queen streets some time ago, has been raised. It is understood that the Spray will again be put into commission.

TOOK SECOND DEGREE.
Fitzgerald Council, No. 459, Knights of Columbus, met in St. Mary's Hall, in Royal street, last night, and conferred the second degree upon a large class of candidates.

W. C. T. U. MEETS.
The regular business meeting of the Allison Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the Children's Home, corner of Royal and Duke streets, this afternoon.

America Is Newsiest Of Nations of Globe

More Papers Published Here Than in Any Other Country—Almost Equal All
Europe's Combined.

More newspapers are printed in the United States than in any other country in the world, and it is the belief of the Bureau of Manufactures, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, that the dailies and weeklies in this country nearly equal in numbers the dailies and weeklies published in all Europe.

According to statistics in the Revue Hebdomadaire, and transmitted to this country by Consul General Guenther, of Frankfurt, Germany, that country leads European countries with 5,500 newspapers, of which 800 are dailies.

England is second with 2,900, of which 500 are dailies. France, Italy, Austria, Hungary, Spain, Russia, Greece, and Switzerland follow in order.

Asia has not less than 3,000 periodicals, and Africa 200 dailies. America is given 12,500 papers, but the Bureau of Manufactures declares this incorrect and quotes figures for the year 1903, showing that 17,223 were published here, of which 3,215 were dailies.
